Dail Question No: 37

To ask the Minister for Transport when his Department officials last met with the Data Protection Commissioner to ensure the highest standards are being met by the Department, and all agencies under its remit, in terms of compliance with data protection legislation

Deputy Kelly,

While the Irish Aviation Authority (IAA) has not met formally with the Data Protection Commission (DPC), the IAA engages with the DPC as necessary to address a range of matters related to data protection compliance within the organisation. The IAA ensures that any recommendations made by the DPC are carefully considered and integrated into its practices. This approach helps maintain the highest standards of data protection within the IAA and ensures compliance with relevant legislation. The IAA remains committed to ongoing collaboration with the DPC to address any emerging data protection issues and continuously improve its practices.

Yours Sincerely,

Ciara O' Grady
